Risk Solutions International to Provide Online Briefings on Higher Education Risk Management

Risk Solutions International's Education Practice announced a series of online briefings for higher education officials responsible for risk management, public safety and business continuity.

The title of the webinar series is "Innovations and Trends in Higher Education Emergency Management and Business Continuity." It includes topics such as:

- Campus Tactical Mapping
- Emergency Management Web Plans
- Leading Threat Assessment Models
- Understanding School Shootings Online Course
- Crisis Communications & Media Management
- Business Continuity & Disaster Recovery in Higher Education
- Extraordinary Risks
- Cooperative Arrangements with Community First Responders
- Grants and Legislation
- Financial Implications of Emergency Management Policies

The series is targeted to institution personnel in functions such as Campus Police, Security and Public Safety officials; Emergency Managers; Risk Managers; Student Affairs officials; Legal Counsel; and Facilities and Engineering department heads.

It will be offered to groups of diversified industry participants or to groups of interested officials in a single institution, either as a multi-topic issues survey, or on a topic-specific basis.

"Colleges and universities face a unique set of operational risk challenges and needs that can be more complex and interdependent in some ways than commercial organizations," said Mr. Scott Corzine, Education Practice Leader. "We created this informal series of briefings to apprise campus officials about leading practices in operational risk management in the college/university space, as they deal with safety/security policy, operational risk practices and legal and insurance risk mitigation."

Risk Solutions International specializes in comprehensive operational risk services for colleges and universities – from business continuity assessments and disaster recovery strategies to web-based comprehensive emergency management plans, and from campus visual tactical mapping to training on Understanding Campus Shootings and collegiate threat assessment models. The firm is engaged on these kinds of projects at institutions nationwide.
