

Comprehensive Crisis & Risk Management Services For Higher Education

Higher Education institutions confront extraordinary challenges in preserving the security of their constituents and physical assets, the maintenance of their reputation and the predictable continuity of their operations - after critical incidents occur. The effective implementation of emergency management practices and operational continuity planning by both campus officials and external agencies is now under intense national scrutiny. Risk Solutions International expects that the Departments of Homeland Security, Education, Health & Human Services and Justice will take an active interest in new standards for college campuses. We also expect state governments to begin to legislate new campus crisis management standards. As an active member of the University Risk Management & Insurance Association (URMIA), Risk Solutions International provides colleges and universities with a complete portfolio of services from an independent third party perspective:
